

Miriam has been an author, magazine publisher and editor, and podcast host interviewing authors, doctors and scientists. Miriam's previous career has included business administration in the medical and technology sectors. Miriam has two degrees, has lived on four continents, speaks four languages, and is enjoying a retirement near family in Chichester.